Once sorting is done, a check box on the right side of the sorting icon will be added. Checkbox will remain disabled by default.

On applying Sorting to a column, the checkbox next to it will be enabled (all other will still remain disabled). User will have the choice to fix this sorting and nest as per this column.

- If user ticks the checkbox, then nested sorting will be active. User can now sort any other column w.r.t to the previous column. For ex. In case of several buy and sell bids in different contracts, then the user can first tick the checkbox 'Buy Price', this will bring all contracts with buy bids at the top. Then, the user can sort the 'Sell Price', this will bring all contracts with sell bids below the contracts with buy bids. Hence, the user can now see all contracts with buy and sell bids in the market at the top.
- If user doesn't tick the checkbox, normal sorting will happen. If the user sorts any other column, then the checkbox next to it will be enabled and the previous sorting will be cleared and the checkbox next to it will again become disabled.

Only one checkbox will be enabled / ticked at a time as per the above logic (if the sorting is applied in any column).The same has been shown below:

5. Addition of New Column in Market Watch

A new Column- Status has been added in the market watch which will indicate the status (Active/Inactive) against each contract for that particular trade date.

For instance, all the contracts coming under the continuous market (Day ahead and Daily Contracts) will have active status till 2:00 PM and post that once the continuous market is closed, the status of these contracts will be inactive.

Status column will be viewed in market watch as shown below:

C. Bottom Panel

6. Addition of Market Updates Tab

At present the Bottom Panel contains three tabs viz. Order Book, Trade Book and Limit Dashboard.

In addition to these tabs, an additional Tab – “Market Updates” will be available. The Market Updates will provide following information –

- From now on, under the market update section members will be able to view all the orders (without revealing the identity of other members).
- Market updates will also contain Exchange news like Market Open and Close notifications, and other messages.
